

ROOSEVELT TO SEND MESSAGE ON WAR DEBTS

American Course To Remove Obstacles In Making

Washington, April 26.—(AP)—An aggressive American course to remove two obstacles which hitherto have blocked the path to disarmament and world economic accord was in the making today in Washington.

President Roosevelt expects to send to Congress soon a message on war debts. Indications were he probably would ask authority to grant a moratorium, until after the London economic conference opening June 12, of the debt installments due three days later.

At the same time, it appeared definite that out of the conversations with Prime Minister Mac Donald of Great Britain and former Premier Herriot of France, the leaders of the three nations had found a close accord involving American participation in consultative steps with other Kellogg-Briand treaty signers whenever the peace of the world is threatened.

How Mr. Roosevelt will deal with the debt question in Congress remains to be seen. The President's message, however, is expected to be a work program. The President's Congress, hitherto smoothly functioning on the Roosevelt program, today raised the bonus cash-payment issue in both Senate and House. With other fresh delays preventing an inflation vote today, Senator Robinson (R-Ia.) offered bonus payment as an amendment to the money program.

The same issue was raised in the House by announcement of Rep. Patman (D-Tex.) that he had the votes to force a democratic party caucus on bonus payment by next Monday. An eventual victory of the administration money bill was not believed by Senate leaders to be threatened, although Senator Glass (D-Va.) announced he would vote against the bill.

The President tonight was deep in his palaces with Herriot following the departure of Ramsey Mac Donald, in a mood of deep enthusiasm expressed in the declaration that the conversations had been "fruitful in a way I hardly believed possible when I came."

Mac Donald left behind a joint statement in which the President and he declared an understanding on a six-point program for the June conference; a higher level for commodity prices; new commercial policies; reduced tariffs; expanded credit; stimulating capital expenditures by government; a resubmitted international money standard; and silver status improvement.

While this course was being charted at the White House, Senate Republicans and Democrats debated inflation with a view to blocking the administration money bill. Vandenberg (R-Mich.) recorded himself for all but the reduction of the dollar's gold content. Reed (R-Pa.), captain of the opposition, tangled with Robinson of Arkansas, the administration leader, in a sharp exchange.

As the Senate debated, the House, without formality of roll call, approved a resolution for ceding to New York all the United States share of power derived from the St. Lawrence waterway, if and when the treaty with Canada for the waterway development is ratified by the Senate.

The House swung quickly then to approve, 209 to 150, a resolution ordering its judiciary committee to investigate the impeachment charges laid against federal Judge James A. Ladd of Boston for blocking extradition to Virginia of a negro wanted there for murder. Tomorrow the two billion home mortgage relief bill is to be taken up for quick disposal.

UTILITY RATE CASE WILL BE OPENED TODAY

Eighteen Companies Will Appear At Hearing

Chicago, April 26.—(AP)—On the eve of the first skirmish in the Illinois commerce commission's avowed campaign for reduction of public utility rates in the state, neither side was disposed tonight to make any prediction as to its plan of battle.

The commission has cited 27 electric companies, serving 1,443 municipalities and an estimated 38.8 percent of the state's electricity users, to show cause why they should not reduce their rates. Eighteen of these, including the Commonwealth Edison company, are to appear before the commission here tomorrow, the other nine at Springfield on May 3.

Attorneys for the Commonwealth Edison company today said they were unable to forecast the company's course until the hearing actually opened. The office of the commerce commission similarly "rested" on its citation, pointing out that the next move was up to the companies.

In the citation, the commission pointed out changes in "general economic conditions as they affect utility rates," which it said "should be taken into account in setting rates."

The other 17 companies scheduled for hearing tomorrow are: Calumet City Public Service company; Central Illinois Electric and Gas company; Mount Carmel Public Utilities and Service company; East Dubuque Electric company; Interstate Light and Power company; Elizabeth Light and Power company; Illinois Northern Utilities company; Illinois Power and Light company; Kewanee Public Service company; McHenry Power and Light company; Northwestern Illinois Utilities company; Peoples Power company; Rock River Valley Light and Power company; Produce Terminal corporation; Public Service company of Northern Illinois; South Bell Water Gas and Electric company and Western United Gas and Electric company.

MORATORIUM ON FARM MORTGAGES BEING PROPOSED

Question Will Come Up Before Legislature at an Early Date

By R. P. Howard
Associated Press Staff Writer.

Springfield, Ill., April 26.—(AP)—A moratorium on farm mortgage foreclosures is to become one of the next legislative items to be considered by the Illinois legislature.

While the administration completes plans for operation of county farm debt adjustment committees on a voluntary basis, the judiciary committee's mortgage moratorium bill gathering support in the house of representatives. The bill is expected to be called up for final passage soon.

Outspoken opposition during previous consideration failed to stop the advancement to third reading of the proposal to empower circuit judges to postpone foreclosure actions until July 1, 1935.

Meanwhile, the department of agriculture announced that it is ready to receive applications for the appointment of mortgage conciliators in rural counties in an effort to enable debt-burdened farmers to adjust their financial difficulties.

FREE COINAGE OF SILVER IS AGREED UPON

Bi-Metalism Clause Is Accepted By The Senate

Washington, April 26.—(AP)—Free coinage of silver was written into the administration's monetary inflation legislation by the senate late today after a turbulent session which ended in an agreement to limit debate and thus hasten a final vote.

An amendment proposed by senators Wheeler (D-Mont.) and King (D-Utah), was added to the measure to authorize the president to remonetize silver at any ratio to gold he sees fit. The amendment provides, also, for free and unlimited coinage at that ratio.

The bi-metalism clause was accepted by a vote of 41 to 26 after the provision of the inflation legislation authorizing the president to reduce the gold content of the dollar by as much as fifty per cent had been subjected to terrific opposition from Senators Borah, Idaho's Republican independent, and Senator Robinson (R-Ia.) had injected the cash soldiers' bonus issue by offering an amendment to pay the war veterans out of the proposed coinage.

Nineteen Republicans and seven Democrats opposed it. It was the first test on the inflation proposal since it was taken up Monday as an amendment to the farm bill.

After the vote, Senator Reed (R-Pa.) leader of the opposition, moved to strike out the gold-content reduction authorization and all amendments to it. This will be the pending amendment when the senate resumes tomorrow under an agreement limiting each senator, beginning at 2 p. m., to 50 minutes speaking.

Senator Robinson, the Democratic leader, proposed the debate-limiting agreement and there was no objection.

Senator Carter (D-Va.), former secretary of the treasury and a conservative on money legislation, announced openly for the first time during the day that he would vote against the inflation bill, but was undecided whether to make a floor speech.

The veteran Virginia senator, however, plainly indicated his opposition on the floor when he interrupted Borah to observe that the federal reserve system already had "ample" reserves to plan but was undecided whether to make a floor speech.

Borah denounced the gold section of the administration proposal as "distinctly a deflationary provision that will counteract any benefit that might be derived from the other sections of the bill."

Borah defended the provision for issuance of paper money saying that course had always been resorted to throughout history in periods of emergency.

The Indiana Robinson proposed to pay the bonus, estimated at $2,200,000,000, out of the optional $3,000,000,000 treasury notes issued provided in the administration plan. His amendment would require the payment of the bonus mandatory, while all powers in the pending inflation plan are made discretionary with the president.

Attacking the gold clause, after Senator Connally (D-Tex.), had expressed "grave doubt" as to its constitutionality, but said he was anxious to have the supreme court pass on it, Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich.) said it proposed to grant "automatic and dictatorial power without a remote parallel in history."

List Liabilities at Eleven Million Dollars, Assets at Four Million

Chicago, April 26.—(AP)—Once a powerful sales agency for the huge Insult Utilities securities, the firm of Insult, Son and company today filed a voluntary petition of bankruptcy and a petition for liquidation of the firm.

The petition listed liabilities at $11,002,829 and assets at $4,402,395. The firm had bank accounts totaling $25,189 and most of the rest of the assets was listed as debts due on open accounts. Of the liabilities, $5,523,581 was to be secured by collateral of little value. Company attorneys estimated actual assets at about $100,000.

Insult, Son and company owned the capital stock of Insult, Son and company, Ltd., of England and the latter owned a Canadian firm of similar name.

Included among debtors to the firm was Joseph P. Dumblay, former secretary to President Wilson. Attorneys said the company held his note for $140,899, dated in February, 1930.

Dean Bigelow already is acting as trustee in bankruptcy for Insult Utility Investments, Inc., large Insult investment firm.

MOONEY TRIAL IS POSTPONED UNTIL MAY 22

Judge Takes Action When Crowd Starts Demonstration

By Rennie Taylor
Associated Press Staff Writer.

San Francisco, April 26.—(AP)—The show of a crowd "We want Mooney!"—the cry of Superior Judge Louis H. Ward as he approached the hall of justice moved the jurist today to continue the newly granted murder trial of Thomas J. Mooney, convicted Preparedness Day parade bomber, "until this feeling dies down."

He decreed that the cheers and howls of the crowd, penetrating even into the court room as he spoke, would be prejudicial to fairness.

Court Room Packed.

The trial was continued until May 22. The court room was packed with persons admitted only by card.

"No trial could be had on its merits under these circumstances," Judge Ward said. "The acts of the friends of Mr. Mooney preclude giving him justice under the circumstances."

The court was continued until May 22. The court room was packed with persons admitted only by card.

In San Quentin prison, where he is a life prisoner, Mooney said he was "keenly disappointed" over the continuance.

Hours before the opening of court a crowd began to assemble in Portsmouth Square, a public park across the street from the hall of justice. Mounted police encircled the building as Mooney banners began to appear. Police mounted the low concrete wall of the park and were guided to and fro in the crowd to separate it.

A Mooney sympathizer began to speak. Officers restrained him and he finally went with them in search of Chief of Police William J. Quinn, hoping for permission to address the crowd, which numbered about 300.

Quinn was out of reach and the man returned and began speaking. Police tore down the banners and scattered the crowd. No arrest was made later, although one man was held later on a disturbance charge.

INDUSTRY AND LABOR DISCUSS 30-HOUR WEEK

Claim Parts Of Plan Would Be Ruinous To Both Sides

Washington, April 26.—(AP)—Spokesmen for organized labor and business pointed out today to the House labor committee the flaws they think are ruinous in Secretary Perkins' plans for federal control of production, wages and hours of labor.

William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, agreed with the idea of limiting work to six hours a day five days a week, but contended a federal minimum wage law would be a "risky adventure."

General Swope, president of the General Electric Company, approved the purpose of the bill—"to spread employment"—endorsed the minimum wage proposal, and accepted the 30-hour week provision, but insisted production had better be controlled by industry itself through modification of the Clayton and Sherman anti-trust acts.

Swope testified, too, there should be greater elasticity in the plan to reduce working hours. Where Secretary Perkins would permit employees to work 40 hours a week for 10 weeks, Swope proposed that a maximum of 48 hours be allowed for any one week.

He would divide the total number of hours in a six-month period by the number of weeks so that the average would not exceed 30 hours. Some expression of these two witnesses on major provisions of the bill were:

Limited working hours—Green—"We organized labor" are heartily in favor of this part of the bill.

Swope—"The provisions of the bill are x x x too rigid for practical application and xx do not go far enough."

Production control—Green—"We think that would prove a very interesting experiment and we are willing to accept it to see what the outcome would be."

Swope—"Production had much better be controlled by an agreement of industry itself, organized into trade unions."

Minimum wage law—Green—"It would be a risky adventure. While it might help some, it would tend to injure the efforts of the great bulk of labor to bring about increased standards of living."

Swope—"That is particularly essential to the lower classes of labor. Unskilled labor needs more protection; it has no organization to help it."

On the proposal to bar imports made in foreign countries by workers on the job more than 30 hours a week they said:

Green—"We understand there is some opposition to that, particularly by the administration, but we believe it would be fair to prevent importation of goods made on a longer work week basis."

Swope—"That would not do much good. Our difficulties now are caused by depreciated currencies abroad. Requiring a 30-hour work week on imports would increase the foreign labor cost only slightly."

CAPONE TAKES HIS FIGHT TO FEDERAL COURT

Former Chicago Gangster Seeks Freedom On Writ of Habeas Corpus

New Orleans, April 26.—(AP)—Al Capone, former Chicago gangster, today brought his fight seeking freedom from federal penitentiary on a writ of habeas corpus before the United States Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals.

The court took the case under advisement and granted an additional ten days for Capone's counsel to submit a supplementary brief and for the government to file an answer.

The appeals was taken from a refusal of the writ by the Atlanta Federal District Court, on which Capone had hoped to gain freedom from a ten years sentence he is serving in Atlanta for evading the income tax law in 1926, 1927 and 1928. He contended the statute of limitations had expired prior to the time he was indicted.

Capone was not present at the hearing today, although one of his former bodyguards was a spectator. Philip D'Andrea, throughout the one and a half hour hearing sat on the front row of the spectators' benches.

Dwight H. Green, U. S. attorney at Chicago, who is here as assistant government counsel, said that D'Andrea was one of Capone's bodyguards when the gangster first went to trial. D'Andrea was convicted on a charge in connection with carrying a pistol into federal court during the Capone trial and served a prison term.

Capone's counsel indicated that should the Appellate Court affirm the decision of the lower court, they will appeal the case to the United States Supreme Court.

BEER LICENSE QUESTION IS REAL PUZZLE

Beverage Will Be Sold Illegally For Few Days, Claim

Springfield, Ill., April 26.—(AP)—Enactment today of the state beer licensing and regulatory measure brings to the fore several moot points over which accurate to both sides of the legislature differed during debate on the act.

Many cities, villages, and counties, which also have the power to issue beer retailers' licenses, have refrained from passing such ordinances pending final action by the state.

The law contemplates that no state license shall be issued to a retailer who does not possess a local license.

Technically, all beer sold in the state within the next few days will be sold illegally as Illinois finds itself in the position of having passed a licensing act which it is not prepared to make immediately effective.

However, it is understood that the state will take no action of a punitive nature as the situation is considered unavoidable.

The department of finance plans to distribute applications for state beer licenses among all county clerks so that beer dispensers may obtain them. This, it was said, will be done within the next few days.

Whether the state will issue licenses to all applicants, even those in political subdivisions which have not yet enacted licensing ordinances, has not been determined. The state will have no option to withhold a license from an applicant who possesses a local license.

Attorneys in the legislature, during debate on the bill, differed over the provisions of the old cities and villages act which, some claimed, gives to these subdivisions the right to prohibit the sale of liquor. Some maintained that if a village or city refused to issue a license it would be acting within its powers. Others contended cities and villages had no option, as the law now stands, and could be mandamus into issuing a license.

The situation as to counties, however, appears to be different. No such powers as some attorneys maintain cities and villages possess to prohibit has been given under previous laws to counties.

Several years ago the legislature passed an act permitting county boards to issue licenses for the operation of dance halls. In several instances the boards refused to issue such licenses on request, although the applicant was qualified within the provisions of the act. These boards maintained it was optional with them whether they issued licenses.

The supreme court, however, later held that when an applicant for a dance hall license was qualified within the act the board had no option other than to issue the license. Attorneys in the assembly maintained the decision would also apply to beer licenses.

CHICAGO SCHOOL TEACHERS MARCH ON CITY HALL

Traffic Halted During Demonstration In "Loop" District

Chicago, April 26.—(AP)—Harpooning bankers and city officials with shafts of satirical song, 3,000 militant school teachers, their anger at a crescendo over working without pay, invaded the loop today and laid siege to the Chicago Title and Trust company and the First National bank.

A near-riot was precipitated at the former when police tried to stem their advance.

From the bank, they marched to the city hall, where the school board was holding its meeting.

Like a major military offensive, the march began.

Commanding General was teacher John M. Fewkes who rode in an automobile equipped with amplifying apparatus, directing his followers in martial music and reminding them of their impelling purposes.

Today's demonstration was the second of the teachers have staged this week, their annual spring vacation period.

The challenge they hurled before the officers of the Trust company today was:

"Pay your taxes!"

A general melee resulted and pedestrians felt the wrath of the protesters, being jostled and pushed. Traffic was halted for the time.

Some of the teachers forced their way into the company's offices. Most of them milled about in the street and beat against barricaded doors. Policemen wielded clubs to bring about some semblance of order. In turn, many of them were scratched and their uniforms torn.

Several teachers were injured, none seriously, and several women fainted.

The demonstrators clamored for audience with General Abel Davis, chairman of the board of the Trust company and about accusations it had not paid taxes on much of the property it controls.

A committee of 19 teachers was received by Holdman D. Pitblow, president of the Trust company, who told them taxes "have been paid on any property we own," but that 300 properties in receivership could not at present pay their taxes.

"Go to the legislature—that is where your remedy lies," Pitblow advised them.

The demonstrations then proceeded to the First National bank, demanding to see its president, Melvin Traynor. Despite carefully guarded doors, about 200 got inside. Banning operations were suspended as they paraded about, chanting:

"We want Taylor!"

Taylor did not appear and a vice-president was heckled into silence.

The teachers then marched to the school board meeting, where several of them were admitted and invited to speak their views. All were against a shut-down of the city's education system.

School trustee H. Wallace Caldwell, original proponent of the plan to close the schools from May 12 to Oct. 1 declared today he had information that students themselves would bring about a shut-down by walking from their classrooms next Monday.

The board voted to deter action on the proposed closing and adopted a resolution endorsing Mayor Edward J. Kelly's legislative relief program.

Mayor Kelly will leave for Springfield tomorrow to urge action by the general assembly to force payment of taxes in Cook county. The mayor has also proposed a drastic retrenchment in school operating expenses.

A group of teachers attempted to storm a meeting of the city council and police cordons were thrown open and the teachers were admitted to the gallery.

Fewkes addressed the mayor and the councilmen after he and other representatives of the teachers were permitted to enter.

Mayor Kelly, after the council adjourned, had the council doors thrown open and the teachers were admitted to the gallery.

"I agree with the bankers to act to cut expenses of the school board," the mayor said. "When this is done and legislation passed to force tax payments, the bankers will advance a substantial amount of money. This promise was made in the presence of 15 persons."

Fewkes again addressed the teachers, saying there were no demonstrations or meetings for a week, "now that we have a guarantee of aid."

"When the bankers make a promise," he said, "that is one thing. When the mayor makes a promise, it is another. I believe if the mayor can't get anywhere, he will lead us in a march on the banks. Maybe that isn't what he thinks."

"It is," mayor Kelly interrupted.

Famous British Judge Ends His Life With Gun

London, April 26.—(AP)—Sir Henry Alfred MacCarthy, famous bachelor judge who heard some of the most sensational domestic relations cases in recent British history, was found shot dead tonight in his St. James' Park home. He was 63 years old.

Sir Henry had been suffering from the effects of influenza, although he was convalescent. An inquest will be conducted Friday.

After hearing a shot, a servant rushed into Sir Henry's room, finding him unconscious on the floor and bleeding from a head wound.

A rifle, with a piece of string tied to the trigger and to Sir Henry's hand, was found nearby, according to police information.

Locusts Returning

The 17-year locust which were here in 1920, and which are really 13-year locusts, are coming back this summer. Illinois is to have a larger crop than usual, and the swarm will cover the southern three-quarters of the state.

growing crops, but they will injure the tender twigs on shade trees. They do this by puncturing the twigs to lay their eggs. After the young are hatched they drop to the ground and burrow into the soil to await the passing of 13 years for a return to activity. The adult locusts live about three weeks.

Doubtless the finding of large numbers of locusts will lead people to imagine dire events to come. Their appearance in former years has been hailed with foreboding by the superstitious. To be sure there was a panic in 1907; but 1920 brought no ill luck. As for 1933, it is hoped the coming of the locusts will signify the end of the depression which has already far outlasted its time.

Experts say there is nothing that can be done to fight the locusts. They eat little, and will not fall for insecticides. Their life seems to be rather commonplace and there appears to be no particular reason why they should spend thirteen years getting ready for a few weeks' hard existence.

Raising More Gold

A salvage crew working off the Orkney Islands near Scotland is raising the gold from the British ship Hampshire, which went down during the summer of 1916, with Earl Kitchener, British Secretary of War, on board. The ship struck a German mine.

The first batch of $15,000 has been rescued from the ship's strong boxes. How much more remains in the sunken craft is not known. No doubt the gold recovered will go to augment the enormous stock held by the English government, and the treasurer will receive paper currency in payment.

The treasurer will serve to increase somewhat the world's stock of gold, even the every important nation, save one, is off the gold standard. Because of this condition the treasure will not circulate for long, but will ultimately find its way into government stocks, perhaps some of it in the United States.

The recovery of the gold after these many years is but meager compensation to England for the loss of one of her great statesmen, Lord Kitchener.

emer. The mine which sent the Hampshire to the bottom was placed by the Germans to destroy British shipping. The instrument of death and they received more service from it than they really expected.

The death of Kitchener in the midst of the world struggle was a heavy blow to Britain. His disappearance was so mysterious that for years rumors persisted that he was still alive somewhere. The sinking of the Hampshire cast a deep gloom over the Allies and that was not because of the loss of the gold in her safes. At that time great leaders were far more valuable than gold. It is only in a time of great prosperity and ease that men forget the human virtues and turn to the emphasis of material values.

Will Rogers says:

to the Editor of the Journal—

Beardstown, Ill., April 26.—Every paper just keeps saying how Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. MacDonald are "in accord" and how Mr. Herriot and Mr. Roosevelt are "in accord." Now that all sounds mighty chummy and docile. But knowing Europe like we ought to know, there is just a little touch of "in accord." There is one awful good time to watch those babies from over there and that is when they are "in accord." But I imagine we can trust Mr. Roosevelt, while this is his first poker game with Europe, he has played with Tammany, so he is not what you call an amateur. He has seen guys pull em out of their sleeve before. But he has got to watch that "in accord" stuff.

SEVERAL FORMER LOCAL PEOPLE IN FILM "KING KONG"

Four former Jacksonville residents are known to appear in the super-feature film, "King Kong," which begins a three day showing at the Fox-Illinois theatre next Monday. The picture itself is produced by Ernest B. Schoedsack and Merian C. Cooper, the former a nephew of Ernest A. Schoedsack of this city.

Mrs. Hazel Worthington will be seen in the picture several times, and "doubles" for Fay Wray, the featured actress, on a number of occasions. According to information received by relatives, Mrs. Worthington, who also employed by Miss Wray as companion-secretary, takes an important minor part in the picture. She has appeared in several other films in the past.

Also appearing in the picture are Mrs. Mayme Henderson, mother of Mrs. Worthington, Mrs. Lucille Lane and Jimmy Lane, all of whom are known here.

The picture is reviewed by critics all over the country as a mammoth success, being one of the first of its type to be attempted since "sound pictures" have come into being.

"King Kong" depicts in the minds of Schoedsack and Cooper, is fifty feet high and enormous in all proportions. How it is pictured as stalking through the streets of New York, with skyscrapers brought down in the line of vision by the animal's size, is a thing of wonderment.

Schoedsack and Cooper have been producing jungle pictures and the effects created have been noteworthy. In this, their latest advent, they have produced a picture that is mystifying critics and audiences everywhere, but they will not divulge the secret of the production.

The TINYMITE'S

STORY BY HAL COCHRAN PICTURES BY JOE KRAV

Of course the Tinies had real fun as lots of circus stunts were done. Said Duncy, "Catch the zebra! I will show you how to ride."

"The squirrel who rode him was real good. He did the very best he could, but I will do much better. Bring the zebra right to my side."

The Midget Man said, "All right, lad, but this may turn out rather sad. The zebra's sometimes frisky. He may flop you to the ground."

Then Scouty shouted, "Let him try. He'll learn his lesson by and by. And, while we Duncy mounted, all the Tinies gathered round."

Off went the zebra, like a flash. Poor Duncy knew his hunch was rash. He grabbed the wild beast by the neck and tried to hang on tight.

His little feet flew way up high until he thought they'd touch the sky. "Lad, lad, you sinner lippy, and I think you'll be all right."

This lasted for a little while. The Midget Man then, with a smile, said, "Well, the lad has had enough. I guess I'll halt this ride."

He promptly made his zebra stop. "Gee, I am tired enough to drop," said Duncy, as he slid off. "Thank you sir! You saved my hide!"

Two elephants stood right nearby and Mister Midget Man said, "I will now put on a little act that's really hard to do."

"I've practiced for a long, long time. Right on the elephants I'll climb. You lads are going to see a wondrous stunt, before I'm through."

In just about a minute he was standing, proud as he could be, with one foot on each elephant. And then he cried, "Giddap!"

The elephants began to run, which made the old man cry, "What fun! It's mighty clever." Windy yelled, "Come on, lads, start to clap!"

Tigers Overcome Pale Hose In Closing Innings and Cop Hard Fought Ball Game 6-4

Chicago, April 26.—(AP)—Detroit overcame a three-run lead in the closing innings today and went on to defeat the White Sox, 6 to 4, in a tight 11 inning game in which 32 players, including seven pitchers, saw action.

Three singles by Fox, Webb, and Gehring, plus a long fly by Walker, pushed over the two winning runs for the Tigers in the final inning and ended the three-game winning streak of the rejuvenated White Sox.

Sam Jones held the Tigers to two harmless hits over the first six innings as the White Sox piled up three runs with Minter Hayes leading the attack with a home run, a double and a single. A hit batsman and three singles gave the Tigers two runs in the seventh. They tied it up in the ninth on a single by Earl Webb after Reiber.

THREE PLAYERS ARE SUSPENDED

By Paul Mickelson, Associated Press Sports Writer.

Chicago, April 26.—(AP)—President Will Harridge of the American League, a mild-mannered man with a big stick in each fist, today slapped indefinite suspensions on the three principals of the Washington baseball riot and hurriedly entrained for east to open an exhaustive investigation.

Buddy Myer and Earl Whitehill of the Washington Senators and Ben Chapman, base stealing star for the championship Yankees, were handed indefinite suspensions after President Harridge had held a long distance telephone conversation with Umpire George Moriarty and Harry Geisel to get their versions of the big fight yesterday.

Will the U. S. Going off the Gold Standard Affect the Value of my Savings and Loan?

It will make your Savings and Loan Dollar more valuable, for you may invest in either the $50 "C", $100 "D" or "A" or "B" classes payable monthly, and by the time they mature we will have returned to the gold standard and your cheap money will be worth 100 cents in gold.

DECIDE TRI-COUNTY 3-YEAR TITLE FRI.

Impressive Records Await Assault Of Athletes From Three Year High Schools This Friday At Carrollton Fair Grounds.

Carrollton, April 26.—(Special)—An impressive set of records awaits the invasion Friday of the members of the Tri-County league when they come to Carrollton for their annual track and field championship meet. The meet will be held on the Greenville fairgrounds track.

So impressive are the records that only one mark is considered to be in danger. Doopers have pointed to the broad jumping of Womack, of Gratton, and expect him to break the record held by S. Smith, of Kane, of 30 feet 10 inches. Kaneville has been named the pre-meet favorite, with Kane a close second and Alsey as the dark horse.

Supt. Abel Hanson of Carrollton will serve as referee and starter of the meet, which this year is being managed by Manchester. Manchester is the defending champion, winning 351 points to Kane's 35 to grab the title last year.

The day will open with a meeting of the coaches at nine o'clock in the morning, and will be followed by the preliminary heats in the 50, 100, and 200 yard dashes, and the 200 low hurdles. One hundred athletes have been entered by the nine schools. Hillview, Kampsville, Manchester, Eldred, Patterson, Alsey, Woodson, Kane and Gratton.

The records as they now stand are: 50 yard dash—P. Garrison, Hillview, 1925; F. Seeley, Hillview, 1927; W. Schroeder, Eldred, 1926—Time 5.4 seconds.

100 yard dash—H. Pebbles, Patterson, 1924—Time 10.4 sec.
200 yard dash—W. Schroeder, Eldred, 1927—Time 23.1 sec.
400 yard run—L. Woodridge, Hillview, 1922—Time 52.4 sec.
800 yard run—Scott, Rockledge, 1922—Time 2:06.
220 low hurdles—P. Garrison, Hillview, 1925—Time 37 sec.

New York, April 26.—(AP)—By the narrow margin of a double which might have been scored as an error, Roy Parmelee, making his first appearance of the season, today missed the Phillies to one hit in the New York City game, 3 to 1 victory.

GIANTS SMACK PHILLIES 3-1

The third inning, Mickey Finn, Phillies, second baseman, cracked a fast hopper down the third base line. Johnny Vergez got his hands on the ball, but was unable to hold it and Finn pulled up at second. An out-field fly and a wild pitch sent him across the plate.

The one run appeared good enough to win the game until the seventh inning, when the Giants counted twice on a daring bit of base running. With Ott on first base, Leslie, subbing for Manager Bill Terry, drove a double into left. Ott took a chance in trying to score, but was safe when Vergez threw past Virgil Davis. Leslie also completed the circuit before the Phillies' catcher could retrieve the ball. Singles by Ryan and Ott, mixed with Parmelee's sacrifice, gave the Giants their third run in the eighth.

Jim Elliott kept the Giants' six hits scattered, except the two innings the Giants scored. Parmelee was invincible, however, striking out six men. Finn was the only Phillies player to get as far as second base, although Parmelee walked four men.

Score: Philadelphia . . . 001 000 000—1 0 New York . . . 000 000 21X—3 6 1 Elliott and V. Davis; Parmelee and Mancuso.

Good Records Await Assault Of Illinois Valley Thinclads

The last time the Illinois Valley conference athletes held session on the Illinois College cinders, where they will gather again this Saturday to decide the championship for the year, seven records fell in one of the great assaults since the conference began. Those seven records were made during a day of fitful showers, on a slippery field and sodden track. What the boys from the conference will do when they gather here Saturday remains to be seen, but from all indications, there is going to be a bit of good running, jumping and throwing staged for the benefit of those people who like to see contests in which skill, physical prowess and endurance play a prominent part.

Two of the running records should be lowered, and there is not much doubt but that they will be. The present record for the 100 yard dash, made last year by Brent of Pittsfield, is 10.5 seconds. Whether the new mark will go to Pittsfield, White Hall or Roodhouse is one of the details to be decided, but the record will be broken unless several runners fall down and skin their shins before they get away on the century gallop.

The other running record which should come down a few more seconds in the half mile mark. Dope on half mile runners over the conference is a little more guess-work than the dope on the century sprinters, but there should be at least one runner who can slash the mark, also made last year by Hefner of Jerseyville, to 2:02.3 seconds.

Still another running record which may go by the boards is the half mile relay. White Hall has a team which already has bettered the mark set by a previous White Hall team by almost a second. If they can repeat that performance on the college cinders, they'll continue to hold the relay mark.

White Hall also has a pole vaulter who has bettered the record already this year, and if he can duplicate his performance, he will rip the mark made two years ago by Metcalf of Greenfield from the conference record books, and establish himself on the roll.

Pittsfield was ranked as the pre-meet favorite by the coaches when they met in Jacksonville for their annual spring meeting, and their stock is just as good as it was at that time. White Hall, always a threat in the league and holder of more track titles than any other school in the conference, has improved its stock during the past few weeks and is now about ready to jump into the championship consideration.

White Hall capped a title in 1930 with only ten athletes entered in the meet. They came back in 1932 and won the title again, by piling up second and thirds and fourths to add to the one first place they won. They probably will win more first places this year, but whether their balance will be as good as it was last year, is not known.

White Hall incidentally, holds more records than any other school in the league. Four of their athletes at present are listed on the record books, while their old rival Roodhouse has what might be termed two and a half titles, all of them made by the same man, Big Bob Wright. Greenfield has two and Jerseyville two.

The present records are as follows: Illinois Valley Records
100 yard dash—Brent, Pittsfield, 1932. Time 10.5 sec.
220 yard dash—Ansell, Pleasant Hill, 1927. Time 22 sec.
440 yard run—Wright, Roodhouse, 1931. Time 2:07 sec.
880 yard run—Hefner, Jerseyville, 1932. Time 2:09.2.
1 Mile run—Dawson, White Hall, 1930. Time 4:54.7.

120 high hurdles—Faulkner, Greenfield, 1930, and Wright, Roodhouse, 1931. Time 17.4 sec.
220 low hurdles—Wright, Roodhouse, 1932. Time 27.2 sec.
Pole vault—Metcalf, Greenfield, 1931. Height 11 ft.
1931. Height 11 ft.
Broad jump—Ford, White Hall, 1928. Distance 21 ft.
Shot put—Walsh, I. S. D., 1931. 45 ft. 4 in.
Javelin throw—Walsh, I. S. D., 1931. 175 ft. 3 in.
Discus throw—Gibbons, Jerseyville, 1932. 110 ft. 11 in.
880 yard relay—White Hall, 1930. Time 1:38.8.

The rest of the Blueboy team will be ready to tackle Washington university Friday. Henry Zaber, who will pitch for the collegians got his last hard work-out last night, along with Brahm, indicating that if Zaber needs help, Long John will crawl the hilltop. Art Gervais is being held in reserve to spell Dave Lawless against Shurtliff Saturday.

Floyd Newkirk appeared in a game Sunday at Columbus, Ohio, for the St. Paul club of the American Association, but he lasted only two thirds of an inning. However, while he was in the box, plenty happened. He gave three hits and struck out one player. He walked a pair, and still no runs were marked up against his record, or at least we couldn't figure out from the box score that any runs were scored against him. Newkirk came up to hit in the St. Paul half of the sixth and rapped out a single.

RELEASE PLAYERS
St. Louis, April 26.—(AP)—Jim Lindsey, pitcher, and Charles Wilson, shortstop, today were notified of their release by the St. Louis Cardinals to one of the numerous farms of the local club. Cardinal officials made no definite announcement, but it was assumed they would go either to Rochester of the International League or Houston of the Texas circuit.

Patron of Racing Is Back at Indianapolis
Wonder how many times they'll see him this time.

INDIANAPOLIS, IND.—Michael Boyle spent six years and approximately $150,000 attempting to win a 500-mile race at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway but the best he has been able to do was a third place in 1926.

The wealthy Chicago race enthusiast is back here this year with two fast cars for another fling at the fickle crown of speed on May 30.

The boys around "Gasoline Alley" at the speedway call him "Pole car Mike" because he always wants his cars out in front. But while they are running, they don't want them out front, is Boyle's slogan and he believes that he is set to take this year's classic with either his rear-drive eight-cylinder Miller or his front-drive four-cylinder car, built the same make motor.

Boyle is the greatest patron of big time racing since the days of Cliff Durant, who spent a small fortune without winning.

FOUR HURLERS SEEK HONORS AT ROUTT

Opening Game of Season to be Played This Saturday at State Hospital Grounds Against Petersburg.

Four hurlers are seeking the honor of pitching the first ball game for Routt high school this year, but as yet, none of them is certain of the job. The Rockets will open their season against Petersburg here this Saturday on the State Hospital diamond.

Virtually all of the other positions except the mound job have been filled. Augie DiCenso, catcher, Paul Duffner, first baseman, Joe Blesse, second baseman, Joe Bestudik, short stop, and John Buben, third sacker, will make up the infield, and George Genetos, with two of the pitchers not on the mound will be in the outfield.

The four hurlers are Tapocik, left hander, Ruback, a right hander, John Bretz, a slender hard throwing right hander, and Held, submarine ball specialist. Bretz may have eliminated himself from the starting possibility by working too hard, his fingers becoming sore from gripping the ball.

Coach Baptist hoped to get in a scrimmage this week, but failed to find any opposition. He will take his team out to the State Hospital diamond tonight for a work-out.

The Rockets expect to face the famous battery team of Keithleys in the opening game. The Keithley brothers have been pitching and catching for a number of years for the Cass County Farm Bureau team, and will make things tough for the local club.

ROBINS PUMMEL BRAVES 5 TO 1
Brooklyn, April 26.—(AP)—The slugger of Del Bissonette behind the four-hit pitching of Owen Carroll gave the Brooklyn Dodgers a 5 to 1 victory over the Boston Braves today.

The Dodgers' veteran first baseman, who returned to the game this season following a year on the sidelines with an injured leg, cracked out a home run, a double and a single to drive in four runs.

Walter Berger's home run in the seventh produced the Braves' only run off Carroll, who kept Boston's four hits scattered over as many innings.

Silas Johnson Holds Cards To Five Hits and Redlegs Win Hard Fought Game 2-1

St. Louis, April 26.—(AP)—Silas Johnson held the St. Louis Cardinals to five hits and the Cincinnati Reds took the first game of the series today, 2 to 1, largely because Leo Durocher, usually a weak hitter, pounded everything that Paul Derringer offered him. Durocher drew a pass and hit a double and two singles for a perfect day at bat. The second single started a one-run rally that scored the winning run in the ninth.

INDIANS SHUTOUT BROWNS 2 TO 0
Cleveland, April 26.—(AP)—Lanky Oral Hildebrand missed the goal of all pitchers—a no hit game—today by the narrow margin of a single safe blow as the Cleveland Indians made it two in a row over St. Louis 2 to 0.

The bludgeon of Art Scharen, Browns' third baseman, ruined Hildebrand's bid for the baseball hall of fame in the third inning. Scharen cracked a whistling blow to right center, and Averill had to hustle to keep it to a single.

Only two other Browns reached first base—both on passes—and none got as far as second. It was Hildebrand's third victory in as many appearances this season.

WORST OUTBREAK OF PEACH BLIGHT BRINGS NEW LOSS

Urbana, Ill., April 26.—With prospects for only a fair crop of fruit, peach growers of Illinois face still further losses in the form of the worst epidemic of leaf curl that has ever been experienced in this state. It is reported by Dr. H. W. Anderson, chief in pomological pathology at the College of Agriculture, University of Illinois.

The disease can not be controlled after the buds have opened, Dr. Anderson said. Consequently, growers who have leaf curl in their orchards must bear the loss this season and take steps to overcome it. This can be done by keeping diseased trees in a vigorous growing condition during the spring and summer. Heavy applications of fertilizers containing readily available nitrogen are advised. Sodium nitrate or ammonium sulphate at the rate of three to five pounds to bearing trees should be applied as soon as possible. If a strong secondary growth is not obtained on diseased trees, another application of fertilizer should be made later in the season.

Peach leaf curl is a fungous disease which appears very early in the spring as the buds open. The leaves turn yellow or red and as they expand become very decidedly curled and thickened. The infected shoots make a short, stunted growth and the diseased leaves drop off, thereby weakening the tree. The fruit, if there is any, does not size up and is of inferior quality.

Research workers of the college have developed new sprays for the control of leaf curl during the dormant season and have conducted other studies to aid in the control of this menace to the state's peach crop which has had an average annual value of more than two million dollars during the past ten years. As yet, however, it has not been discovered just how the disease gets into the peach buds. It is certain that it is present in the twigs and buds, since a dormant spray will prevent infection, and if a limb is missed by the spray, the disease will appear on this limb but not on the rest of the tree.

The serious outbreak this spring is the result of a combination of circumstances, Dr. Anderson explained. Owing to the expected crop failure as a result of last winter's low temperatures, many growers decided not to apply a dormant spray. Such sprays must be put on every year if leaf curl is to be controlled, since there is no way of forecasting the behavior of the disease. The second favorable factor was the prolonged cold, rainy periods in late March and early April.

GRAIN MARKETING EXHIBIT PLANNED FOR WORLD'S FAIR

The story of co-operative marketing of grain, as developed on a national scale by the co-ordinated efforts of farmers' co-operative associations in all parts of the United States, will be graphically pictured by the exhibit of Farmers National Grain Corporation at A Century of Progress International exposition, to open in Chicago June 1.

The background of the exhibit will consist of a giant diorama, one of the largest to be shown at the exposition. Farm scenes, country and terminal elevators and mills, and moving trucks and trains will present an elaborate display of grain areas and facilities and transportation of grain from farm to market.

At one end of the exhibit will be shown a large map of the United States, upon which will be marked with varied colored lights the branch offices, location of stockholder organizations and terminal facilities. The major grain areas of the country will be outlined, as will the principal inland waterways, including rivers and lakes, used in the transport of grain.

The exhibit is located in the Social Science hall. The building which houses the exhibits is situated on Northern Island and is adjacent to the United States Government building, the Court of the States, the Agricultural Buildings, the Dairy Building and the Electrical Group.

RED CROSS FLOUR DEMONSTRATION TO RECEDE CONTEST

Plans for the demonstration of ways of using Red Cross flour to be held Thursday afternoon in the New Dunlap hotel dining room, are almost complete. A platform was erected in the hotel Wednesday, and two stoves and other equipment will be installed in time for the demonstration. A large attendance is expected as families using the flour have become much interested in learning how it may be used more economically and in the preparation of more nourishing food.

The demonstration is to be followed with a bread-making contest for housewives using the flour. Two weeks will be allowed for the practice of making bread according to the methods demonstration. Then on Thursday, May 11, the contestants will bring their sample loaves of bread to the Red Cross office in the city hall to have them judged by women skilled in home economics. The contest is exciting much interest, and it is likely most of the women who use the flour will want to enter it.

The demonstration and contest are being sponsored by the food conservation committee of the Morgan county Red Cross chapter. There are about 700 families in the county using the flour. Each housewife is welcome to bring a friend or relative to the demonstration, which is open to the public. The hours will be from 1:30 to 3:30 o'clock, and the demonstration will begin promptly at 2 o'clock.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

MONNIE O'DARE, who works in a drug store in Belvedere, a small town, helps to support her mother, her younger sister, KAY, and her brother, MARK. She goes to the aid of her older brother, RICK, who is in a garage holding, and new owner, DAN CARDIGAN, who she is in love with. MONNIE, who is a very nice girl, is a friend of her. MONNIE, who is a very nice girl, is a friend of her. MONNIE, who is a very nice girl, is a friend of her.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER VIII
MONNIE made herself proud and cool, answering him. "Yes," she said.

Dan's voice over the wire sounded hurried, vaguely embarrassed. "Monnie, listen, I was in such a rush today. I wanted to talk to you but you know how Mother is. She won't wait."

He paused, evidently waiting for encouragement. Monnie felt a new sense which somehow buoyed her up and she did not help him out.

After a few seconds he went on eagerly. "How about tonight? We could drive out some place. It's better than the binges out here at the club but it will cool off by 7. We could take a picnic basket, go out on the River Road."

Every pulse in the girl's slim young body was hammering. Every nerve urged her to accept the invitation. But pride held her back. Coolly she said, "I'm sorry but I have another engagement."

It cost her a great deal to say that. It was not true. She had nothing on earth to do that evening but it was time Dan Cardigan was taught a lesson.

"Oh, I see," Dan sounded flat, crestfallen. Monnie smiled in her triumph. But after she had hung up the receiver, after she had gone quietly back to finish her luncheon she felt a little reaction.

"What did he want?" Mrs. O'Dare asked

HITCH-HIKING IS FAST FADING SAYS "TRAVELER"

Newspaper Man Relates Experience on Road in Search for Work

Those good old days when it was possible for unemployed men to travel by the "hitch-hike" method from one city to another in an effort to secure work have faded into the past—like many other comforts of life, says W. E. Burbank, veteran newspaperman and hitch-hiker who was in the city Wednesday. "Having covered approximately 7,000 miles during the last 14 months over the highways of this country and visited every city and town between here and the Pacific Coast in which a newspaper—either daily, weekly, or semi-weekly—is published I wish to pass the benefit of my experience along to others who may be planning to do as I have done," he continued.

"There is not a job in the United States for the newspaper man, unfortunately enough to be on the 'outs' at the present time. Observations have convinced me that there is not a job in any other line of work either, so it is useless to start out and look for one."

"But to the question I wish to discuss in a brief space. Autoists have almost stopped picking any stranger up who wishes to 'hitch-hike' them down as they were wont to do. A little more than a year ago I 'hitch-hiked' it from New Orleans to San Francisco in a little more than two weeks time. Just the other day I saw two lads who had been on the highway between Kansas City and St. Louis for a distance of approximately 250 miles. That illustrates the change and applies to all states of the Union."

"It is acknowledged, however, that Louisiana and Missouri are two of the most difficult states for hitch-hikers to get rides in. But any of them are had enough. There is a law with a jail penalty attached against autoists who pick up strangers on the highways of Louisiana. There is another law forbidding hitch-hiking. Similar laws have been enacted in Oklahoma, recently and other states soon will have them."

"Insurance companies forbid their risks to give the friendly lift to hitch-hikers embodying it in their policies that automobilists must not pick up any one unknown to them. If an accident occurs and a driver is accompanied by a stranger his claim against the insurance company becomes void. Where it used to be an easy matter to ride a transfer truck, it is now impossible."

"Because of these conditions many a man who is unemployed and who has no money to travel, is forced to stay at home, where there are relatives and friends who will care for him, whether employed or not. Strange communities have enough troubles on their hands to care for their own unfortunate families and can give little attention to transients."

Soup Kitchens
"During the winter months the roaming horde of unemployed men found that in the larger cities there were 'soup kitchens,' missions and charitable organizations of every kind to provide some kind of food and some kind of a place to 'flop' for the night, but neither the food nor the sleeping place was of the nutritious nature demanded by the human body."

"Young men consider that after they have completed their schooling this country owes them a living and to find that it is impossible to earn one in the home town is discouraging. Then they start out, at first, with nice clothes, good shoes, and a natty appearance. But they find nothing to do and roam from one city to another, thousands flocking towards the Pacific Coast. Gradually they lose their 'front' and eventually get down to overalls, minus their hopes and ambition, underfed, improperly clothed and without sufficient rest and what has resulted but haggard faces, undernourished bodies and weakened mentality."

"It is any wonder that Communist leaders are exerting every effort to influence this class of men to become converts to their cause? They find ready listeners among the unemployed at present especially in the large cities and in California where so many thousands have become stranded. But recently their arguments have not sunk in so deeply as they did a few months ago. American born boys are too patriotic and loyal to the ideals under which they were raised to fall for such propaganda as has been broadcast by radicals."

"Back to the hitch-hiking proposition and the uselessness in undertaking it."
"Three drivers who took in strangers on U. S. 50 between Kansas City and St. Louis were robbed and slain and their machines driven away with. There have been numerous hold-ups in the adjoining state of Kansas, also in Louisiana, in which fatalities resulting in each case. Wide publicity has been given to these cases and the result is that drivers are afraid to give anyone a lift, no matter how good their intentions at heart might be."

"On the other hand I know of a hold-up where the situation was reversed and it occurred recently in Missouri. A driver stopped his car, stuck the point of a pistol into the ribs of a hitch-hiker he had picked up and asked him if he had any money. The lad did have almost $100 which he handed over and then was told to remove his nice suit of clothes and left by the side of the highway in his underwear and penniless. So it isn't always safe to get into a car with a stranger, if you are a well-dressed young man. As a rule a man who undertakes to 'flag' a tourist car is clean in appearance and fairly well dressed. The overall wearers take to the freight trains."

"It would be possible to cite hundreds of cases where young men especially should remain at home and not make themselves a burden to strangers."

"Take it straight from an old timer: There absolutely is not a job to be had in the United States. Stay at home, among friends and when the upward trend in business comes, which it is bound to do, you will be in a better condition to tackle that job which certainly will come."

Edgar Spires and Edward Scott were transacting business in the city Wednesday afternoon from Franklin.

Mrs. Walter Kolberer of Concord shopped here yesterday.

GROTTO CHANGES PLACE FOR SHOW HERE ON MAY 3

Demand for Seats at Banquet, Floor Show Causes Change To New Dunlap

Because of the demand for seats at the dance, floor show and banquet to be held in honor of the Grand Monarch of the Masonic Grand Lodge, the executive committee in charge of entertaining Lamar Field and his wife when they come here next Wednesday, May 3, has changed the place of the entertainment from the Elks club to the New Dunlap hotel. The change was made yesterday when the demand for seats surpassed the seating space available at the Elks club. S. W. Smith, general chairman of the committee on entertainment, completed the details for the change last night. After the program dancing will take place, interspersed with novelty numbers to be furnished by local and professional talent. Max Tschander is chairman of the entertainment committee.

PUBLIC FUNDS IN BANKS ARE NOT PREFERRED, RULE

Chicago, April 26.—(AP)—The practice of giving a preferred status to public funds deposited in banks was declared improper in a majority ruling today of the United States circuit court of appeals.

Two judges of the tri-member court upheld the contention of a Herrin, Ill., national bank receiver that securities set aside by the bank to guarantee deposits by the city of Marion, Ill., should be recovered for the benefit of depositors generally.

"The doctrine of the guaranty of all bank deposits has its advocates and also its opponents," wrote Judge Will M. Sparks, in the ruling opinion. "But we have yet to hear of any voluntary relinquishment of guaranty by a part of the general depositors to the exclusion of others, and securing that guaranty by a pledge of the bank's assets."

Judge Sparks, with the concurrence of District Judge Walter G. Lindley, sitting in the appeals court, suggested that legislation sanctioning a preferred deposit would be as unpopular as for the bank to advertise its engagement in such practice.

Presiding Judge Samuel Alschuler disagreed. In the federal district court at Springfield, Judge Fred L. Wham had ruled in favor of the city of Marion, dismissing the suit of Receiver Ben Speeden for the City National Bank of Herrin to recover the securities segregated to protect $16,430 on deposit by the city. Judge Wham was reversed.

CANOE MAKING IS REVIVED AT LOCAL SCHOOL

Manual Training Department Is Constructing New Boat To Use

Canoe making, an art which dropped out of prominence with the passing of the American Indians, at least from this part of the country, has been revived along with spring weather at the Jacksonville High School manual training shop, where Ernest Lair, head of the manual training department, has placed upon the ways a canoe, ready for the last steps of making it seaworthy following a few weeks of steady and painful toil. The canoe, complete in every detail, will be completed in time for a few fishing expeditions before the close of school, if the construction schedule is maintained.

Making a canoe is a problem in balance, wood selection, wood-working ability, and tedious, constant work. The canoe not only must ride smoothly upon the surface of the water, but it must not tip too easily or list to one side, and must have resistance to withstand the hard rapids it gets from banging into half-submerged rocks and sticks.

The first steps in making the canoe, Mr. Lair pointed out yesterday, were the preparing of a skeleton. Long strips of cured elm were first put in position. Then came the ribbing, or a process of placing ribs about every five inches apart from stem to stern, and running crosswise of the long elm strips. Then came the planking for the floor of the canoe. The planking is made of half inch white pine strips, carefully fit so that there will be no chance of chipping. On the outside the hull was next fastened on, and the hull of this piece was made of cypress. Over the exterior of the boat a solid piece of canvas was stretched and tacked to the gunwales.

The next step is to paint the craft with a coat of lead paint. The paint must be carefully rubbed into the pores of the canvas by hand to make the craft water tight. After a few applications of this paint, the final coat will be applied, giving the canoe the desired color. Two cane seats, all carefully constructed by hand, will be placed in the boat, strips of copper will be placed along the sharp prow, and the ship will be ready for launching.
